

LEARNING OUTCOME
MBA (FINANCIAL SERVICES)

S.No.	Basis	Description
1.	Conceptual and functional skills	The basic objective of the course is to provide to the students specializing in the MBA (Financial Services), the concepts and basics of the various financial services which are in a nascent and developing stage in our country. The course provides a complete package of finance and financial services related subjects so that the students are well equipped with the functional aspects of the various types of financial products and services available in our country.
2.	Practical Applicability	The financial services scenario is still nascent in our country but at the same time it is also developing. The curriculum provides knowledge about banking, insurance, investments and merchant banking activities, project appraisal, leasing, factoring, capital structure decisions, mergers and acquisitions, venture capital, securitization, commodities and derivative markets, portfolio management, international finance etc. which are absolutely relevant and find practical applicability in the corporate sector during the current times.
3.	Employability	The course offers vast employment potential in the banking sector, insurance sector, investment and merchant banking activities, capital markets, share broking, and derivatives market.
4.	Support for competitive exams	The knowledge gained by the students also proves helpful and supportive for various competitive exams such as IAS, NET, PhD, IBPS and various other exams conducted for recruitment in banks and insurance companies.
5.	Research Potential	The subject of finance, financial management and financial services is an ever evolving one. With the increase in financial services being rendered currently in the economy they have a vast potential to contribute to the GDP of the economy. As these services include banking, insurance, corporate and retail services which may be either fund based in the form of loans and finance or fee based in the form of advisory and corporate and retail counseling services the subject offers a lot of scope for research as to how to better the quality of these services while at the same time increasing their employment generation potential.

MBA (International Business)

S.No.	Basis	Description
1.	Conceptual and functional skills	The students are given in-depth knowledge about all aspects of International Business through subjects like Foreign trade policy procedures and documentation, import management, international business finance etc.
2.	Practical Applicability	This course helps students in understanding documentation procedure required for international business. It makes them understand operations of derivative markets and specially Forex market. They are also given detailed concepts about logistics and supply chain management which help them in this trade.
3.	Employability	The course offers employment opportunity in export – import house and related agencies and corporations. It also gives them chance to handle Forex desk in corporates and banks. They also get employed in logistic companies. There are many international research agencies who provide employment to students exposed to international business
4.	Support for competitive exams	The knowledge gained by the students also proves helpful and supportive for various competitive exams such as entrance conducted by Concorde, as well as IAS, NET, PhD, IBPS.
5.	Research Potential	The subject gives them opening to research in regional growth of different international trade blocks; understand the mercantile trade between different nations and many issues of national and international concern.

MBA (BE)

S. No
1	Conceptual and Functional Skills	MBA in Business Economics is comprised of various multi-disciplinary functional and conceptual areas. Our course curriculum is designed in such a way to make this course a perfect blend of Economics and Management. Course concentrates on core subjects like Macro Economics, Micro Economics, International Economics, Strategic Management, HRM, OB, Econometrics, and Forecasting etc.
2	Practical Applicability	Every bit of this course is associated with some practical applicability. Models of econometrics can be used in any type of analysis and research. Knowledge of Economics, Finance and Marketing creates an understanding of surroundings that what is happening around the world and its impact within the country.
3	Employability	A graduate in Business Economics has been developed with multi-disciplinary skills and knowledge. With specialization either in Financial or Marketing even widens the coverage of employment. There are various functional areas for which this course is most suited. Employment areas for finance specialized are: Stock Market, Financial Analyst or advisors, Commodity Trading, Commercial Finance and Accounting, Credit rating agencies, Banking and Accounts, Business forecasting and planning, FOREX market etc. and for Marketing specialized are: E marketing, Rural Marketing, Sales and Distribution, Direct and channel Marketing, FMCG, Consumer Durable, Stock exchange, Commercial Agencies etc.
4	Support for competitive exams	With conceptual learning and application of different field, this course supports for various competitive examination like, UGC- NET (Applicable in both Management and Economics), IES, Civil Services, IBPS, PSU Examinations, Research etc.
5	Research Potential	Subjects like Econometrics, Statistics, Business forecasting and planning, which are part of its curricular, develops this program as prime potential course for any type of research. Research can commence in the field of Economics, Social Science, Finance, HRM and Marketing etc.

M.A. (Economics)

S. No
1	Conceptual and Functional Skills	The programme emphasis is on developing analytical skills through quantitative techniques and on environmental economics.
2	Practical Applicability	This programme makes the students aware about the economic and global economic phenomenon and develops insight to understand and frame policies.
3	Employability	The programme makes students competent for the field of academic and administrative services.
4	Support for competitive exams	The course syllabus is extensive enough to make students competent for competitive exams like UGC NET, IES IAS, RBI exams, etc
5	Research Potential	Dissertation is a compulsory component of this programme to develop the research and analysis skill of the students.

M.Phil. (Economics)

S. No
1	Conceptual and Functional Skills	This programme emphasises on comprehending economic policies and quantitative research techniques.
2	Practical Applicability	This course makes the students aware about the history of economic thought, quantitative techniques and economic policies blended together to make competent in understanding and analysing policies.
3	Employability	The programme makes students competent for the field of academic and administrative services and the research orientation of the programme motivates them to pursue Ph.D.
4	Support for competitive exams	The course syllabus is extensive to make students competent for competitive exams like UGC NET, IES IAS, RBI exams, etc
5	Research Potential	M.Phil programme has term paper and dissertation as compulsory component of the syllabus. Thus it is an also an interface for Masters degree and doctoral programme